Absolute Neutrality Concerning the War in South Africa-Samoan Setlor, has been interviewed with regard to his recent visit to Europe and on the trend of sentiment concerning international questions. "The Samoan settlement meets with very general approval," said the ambassador, "as it seems to be regarded as a good thing for all the parties interested. It is certainly a good thing for the three governments which have hitherto exercised a joint protectorate over the islands, as this arangement was cumbersome and unsatisfactory, and the events of last spring showed that it might give occasion for serious differences. It is equally good for Samoa, as the islands no longer share in the uncertainties of the tri-partite agreement, but will have a uniform and stable government. Naturally the settlement is most gratifying to Germany, as she secures the two large islands of Upolu and Savail where German interests have long been esablished and where the commerce is con-iderable. The Germans have been in that ocality so long that considerable sentiment is attached to the retention of these is-lands. Moreover, this accession, following so closely the accession of the Carolines, is regarded as another marked tribute to he strong and successful policy which count von Bulow is carrying out.

Neutrality in South Africa.

'Concerning the war in South Africa, the sentiment in Europe, so far as I was able to observe, is one of profound public interest and complete official neutrality. Naturally in a conflict of this character the public takes sides. It is the same as here in the United States, for I have noticed since my return that opinion is di-vided here. This public sentiment in Ger-many and elsewhere simply shows that free play which is given to individual opin-For the District of Columbia, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia, rain, followed to-night by fair and cooler. Tree play which is given to individual opinion. But this is quite different from the official attitude of the government, which is scrupulously correct, neither showing favor nor disfavor to either side. And so far as I observed this is the attitude throughout Europe, for while there has been much loose conjecture in the press concerning intervention, such a step does not appear to have received the slightest consideration in responsible quarters." The ambassador was asked concerning Emperor William's present visit to Eng-land and the political significance attached

"This visit," said the ambassador, "wa arranged some time last summer, and I have reason to believe it is a family and private trip. But I suppose it is quite nat-ural that the movements of the imperial party should attract attention and enthusiasm, and if the political gossips draw de-ductions contributing to the existing good feeling it will certainly be most welcome Referring to China and the recent nego-tiations in which the United States has been engaged, Dr. von Holleben said: Open Door in China. "I notice that the question has attracted much attention in this country, but so far as I am concerned I come back entirely without instructions. I may say, however that Germany's policy in China has always been favorable to 'the open door.' The German port of Kiao Chau has its doors open to the commerce of the world, with out favor or discrimination, and I have no reason to believe that any change in this well-established policy is contemplated." As to the outlook for the meat-inspection bill, Dr. von Holleben says it is too early to say what will be done. The reichstag has just met, and the meat-inspection bill has not yet been introduced. Concerning the subject of reciprocity between Germany and the United States, which has heretofore been under consideration the ambassador says there have been no recent develop-

Speaking generally concerning the relations between Germany and the United States, Dr. von Holleben says there has never been a time when those relations have been more satisfactory, minor causes of difference having disappeared and a gen-eral era of good feeling having been brought about. For this the German ambassador expresses his cordial appreciation of the course of Secretary Hay, which has been one of sympathetic co-operation in the adjustment of the various questions between

FIVE ALARMS SOUNDED.

Fire Department Kept Busy, but Small Damage Results.

Five alarms of fire were sounded last night, and the fire department was kept ousy; but very little damage resulted in any case. Early in the night a false alarm was turned in from box 435, which gave the fire department as much trouble as if there had actually been a fire.

This was followed about 6:45 o'clock by the turning out of the department in response to an alarm from box 245 for fire in the house of J. G. Isabell, No. 1909 13th street northwest. The explosion of an oil stove caused the blaze, which was extinguished before any headway was gained. An hour later an alarm was turned in from box 427 for fire in the house of J. C. Reed, No. 476 M street southwest, caused by a boy dropping a lighted match in a closet. About $30 damage resulted.

About 11 o'clock an alarm was sounded from box 632. There was a blaze in the house of William Lynch, No. 815 East Capitol street, that started from some unknown cause. The blaze started in the basement and did about $25 damage.

Shortly before midnight the fifth diarm was sounded. This time the fire department was called to a house at 14th and E streets, where electric light wires caused. THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY. streets, where electric light wires caused trouble. No damage was done.

Statement of the Treasurer Showing Reunion of Students and Graduates of Receipts and Disbursements - Superintendent's Property Account.

Annual Report.

Col. Cecil Clay, president of the board of boys, has submitted to the Commissioners school during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1899, together with a statement of Mr. Samuel W. Curriden, treasurer of the institution, showing the receipts and disbursements during that period. Col. Clay also transmitted with his report a property account prepared by Mr. G. A. Shallenberger, the superintendent of the school. A list of the inmates of the school, it appears, was inadvertently omitted from the report, and the Commissioners will invite Col. Clay's attention to said apparent omission.

In his report Col. Clay states that the number of employes and the compensation paid them were the same as for the preceding year. During the period covered by the report the necessary repairs for the proper care and preservation of the buildings and preserval property below. lings and personal property belonging to the school were made, says Col. Clay, including those to the boiler house, workshop, greenheuses, family buildings, barn, stables, fencing, sewers, roadways and steam heating plant, etc., in all of which work, he ing plant, etc., in all of which work, he states, the boys were employed wherever practicable. In addition to these repairs the piggery, which was almost entirely destroyed by fire, was rebuilt. The interfor of about one-third of the buildings on the property has been painted, without assistance from the cutside, and the general conditions. dition of the entire property is said by Col. Clay to be good.

Receipts of the Year.

The statement of Mr. Curriden shows that the receipts for the year were as follows From appropriation for salaries, $16,242: from appropriation for support of the Inmates, $26,000, and Department of Justice support, $4,543.88; a total of $46,785.88. The disbursements were: For salaries, support, repairs, etc., $46,142.73, leaving unexpen A statement made by Superintendent Shallenberger shows that during th year he received from all sources the sum of $3,653.30, made up as follows: Cash from sale of farm products, $68.85; cash from greenhouses, $473.28; from gains in box fac-tory account, $2.850, and from miscellaneous sources, $261.17.

The German Emperor Uses Grape=Nuts

KAISER WILHELM FURNISHED WITH AMER-ICAN FOOD.

Upon instructions of a German physician, a case of Grape-Nuts Food was lately sent by express to the German emperor, Kaiser Wilhelm, at Berlin This food has come into recognition by physicians as perhaps the most perfect form of nouishment The field grains, barley and wheat, are blended in proper proportions, ground and passed through some ten or twelve different operations, during which the starch of the grains is turned into grape The food is in shape of small granules, perhaps twice the size of a pin head. These are brittle and covered with glistening crystals of grape sugar which has been produced by the processes and form out on the surface of each small granule the end of a hickory or maple log under certain conditions. This product has a delicate sweet taste, not the strong sweet of cane or beet sugar, but the delicate sweet of grape sugar, and it is the most easily digested food known, particularly applicable to digestion in the intestinal tract, where so much trouble is newadays shown from the excessive use very much as the sugar settles and crystalizes on

Most so-called health foods are inclined to be flat and disagreeable to the taste, to be used under a sense of duty. Grape-Nuts, on the con-trary, is not only the bighest known form of health food, but is palatable and delicious. It is thoroughly cooked before leaving the factory and can be served instanter, either cold with a little rich cream or made into a hot dish by pouring some hot milk or cream over it. Grape-Nuts are also used for dainty desserts, treated with gelatine or fruit juices.
All first-class grocers sell Grape-Nuts. Made at Postum Cercal Co.'s factories in Battle Creek, Miss Higgins then proposed the toast, "St. Cecella's Alumnae," which subject was skillfully handled by Miss Vida Penny-witt of the class of '97, who made an impromptu response, voicing the heartfelt sentiments of all present.

Mrs. Manogue, in response to the toast, "The Christian Woman," made a clever speech Miss Katherine Ratcliffe of the class of '95 next read a poem, the title and the refrain of which was "The Beautiful Past"

Father Donohoe's Address. The pastor of St. Peter's parish next gave little "heart talk" of high ideals; of duty to alma mater, and of the importance of the great tasks that lie before us in life Father Donohoe insisted that the Christian man and the Christian woman should work together to accomplish the great things of life. He was met with hearty applause. The alumnae then adjourned to the parlors, where letters from far-away absent ones were read. More lively talk followed until all were summoned to the convent chapel for benediction. Mrs. Colliflower, the first graduate in muste, presided at the organ. The altar was beautiful with many candles, ton's Theatrical Experience. The name of Mrs. John M. Thurston, formerly Miss Lola Purman, having been mentioned in connection with the stage, her friends say that it can be truthfully said that she has never been upon the professional boards. For the past two years Miss Purman has been living with her parents in this city. Mr. Wm. J. Purman, the father of Mrs. Thurston, said today that his daughter was formerly married to Walter B. Tripp, a professor of elecution in Boston. The marriage was not a happy one, and resulted in a separation, Miss Purman securing a divorce and having her maiden name restored. He added that Mr. Southwick, Miss Hornick, now with the Frohmans; Mr. Tripp and Mrs. Tripp, his daughter, now Senator Thurston's bride, engaged with the Agustin Daly company to make a tour of England, but just before leaving Mr. Daly thought it best that hus-band and wife should not be members of his company, so Mr. Tripp remained behind, eventually joining William H. Crane. Mrs. Tripp never appeared in England except upon one occasion, at Stratford-on Avon, and the atmosphere of the stag soon disfilusionized her, so that within two months from the time of her leaving the shores of America she returned to the United States, decided upon a domestic rather than a professional life.

Mr. Purman said further that she was never an instructor in a college of oratory, as has been published, nor has she been a kindergarten teacher in this city, as was stated at the time of her marriage to Sen at a Boston college of oratory, and as a pupil she apepared in amateur performances, which were the fads of the social life of Boston.
